REMINISCENCES.—Chief James F. Webster, whose recollection abounds with events of by-gone days, called attention this morning to the fact that tonight fifty-eight years ago Adam Horn killed his wife and burned her body at his farm house near Baltimore, and Thomas Campbell, of this city, froze to death in an open boat in Broad creek, below Fort Foote, on the opposite side of the river. The chief says March 16, 1843, broke beautiful with a clear sky and a balmy spring temperature. In the afternoon, however, the temperature began to fall and by dark a howling blizzard had driven man and beast to shelter. Horn during the night started a quarrel with his wife while both were sitting before a blazing fire in their country home, and finally he struck her a fatal blow with a stick of wood. He cut up the body and wrapped the parts in coffee sacks and buried them. The head he burned, sifted the teeth from the ashes and strewed them in the woods. He was arrested, made a confession and was hanged. The case at the time attracted much interest in all this portion of the country. Campbell, it will be remembered, was with some friends in a boat and the party were endeavoring to make their way home when the first named grew drowsy. The party then rowed for the Maryland shore in order to reach a house in which to stay during the night. Campbell could not accompany his companions to the house, and when they returned for him he was dead.

THE REPUBLICANS.—Chairman Agnew, of the State republican committee, and Chairman Crupper, of the city republican committee, will leave here on Monday to attend the meetings of the republican State and State executive committees to be held in Richmond on Tuesday. At these meetings it will be decided in what cities and counties the republicans will put up candidates for the State constitutional convention.

On his return to this city Mr. Crupper will call a meeting of the city committee to act in reference to the matter.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY.—March 17th, St. Patrick's Day, will be generally observed on Monday, March 18th, as the 17th falls on Sunday. This will be the case in this city, and the anniversary of the birthday of the patron saint of Erin will be observed by a banquet here, under the auspices of the Hibernians of Alexandria at Lyceum Hall. Tomorrow night vespers services will be held at St. Mary's Church under the auspices of the division, when a panegyric on the life of St. Patrick will be delivered by Father Walsh, of Charlottesville.

BANQUET.—Arrangements have been completed for the banquet to be given by the Hibernians of this city at Lyceum Hall on Monday night next, and there is every indication that this event will surpass those of the past. Among those who will respond to toasts are Congressman Rixey, R. F. Downing, district president of the A. O. H. of Washington; M. J. Keane, of the District of Columbia bar, and P. J. Halligan, editor of the National Hibernian. The banquet will be served by the Rammel Bros.

As heretofore stated, Rev. Dr. Hunt, of the Baptist Church, will preach a special sermon to the firemen of this city tomorrow night. The members of the several fire companies will assemble at their respective halls at 7 o'clock tomorrow night and proceed in a body to the church. Special music has been arranged for the occasion.

A SHOWER OF LEAVES.—A day or two since a shower of dead oak leaves fell on the opposite side of the river on a space of ground covering more than a mile. As there are no oak trees in that entire section of country the residents of the neighborhood say the leaves came from the oak district many miles away and must have been taken up into the sky by a whirlwind and later let fall.

CONTRACT.—The contract for laying a sewer on Columbia street, from King to Christ Church was today let to Wm. Travers for $280. The only other bid was that of Coville and Spinks for $264.95.
